13 Products We Swear by for Getting Us Through Our Commutes Every Day

By: Remi Rosmarin

As product reviewers who often carry a lot of stuff to and from work every day, the members of the Insider Picks team have become experts at commuting.

Most of us can agree that our commute is one of the less enjoyable parts of our day, but we've gotten pretty good at making it less miserable.

Here on the Insider Picks team, we're no amateurs when it comes to commuting. We've spent mornings pushing through crowds on the subway platform, sweating through long rides without any air conditioning in the summer, and have dealt with more delays, service changes, and unexpected stops than we can count. Most of these days, we have heavy bags full of products we're testing for articles.

No matter where you live, how you get to work, or how long it takes you — most of us can agree that commuting can be a pretty dismal experience.

Unfortunately, we're not the MTA or magicians, so we can't just make your commute disappear. But what we can do is help you out with some product recommendations we swear by that have the power to make your commute a little less miserable, and maybe even a little more enjoyable.

CleanWell Hand Sanitizer Spray

Grace High, Insider Picks Commerce Analyst: "I try not to touch anything or sit on the subway, but sometimes I forget and touch something in a moment of carelessness. Knowing my hands are clean and the calming smell of this sanitizer instantly puts my anxiety to rest."
